PREFACE

Antecedents of
The Canadian

THE first edition of THE CANADIAN WHO'S WHO was launched in 1910. It comprised a volume of two hundred and forty-three pages and included approximately two thousand one hundred sketches of living characters. This second edition incorporates Canadian Men and Women of the Time, edited by the late Henry J. Morgan, LL.D., F.R.S.C., the first edition of which appeared in 1898, and the second in 1912.

The demand for
volume

Since the last publication of the aforementioned books, various works have been started, and a few continued in Canada, containing contemporary biographies, and the best known of them have included photographs, but it is safe to say that not one of them fulfilled the public expectation. Hence a demand has arisen for this second edition of THE CANADIAN WHO'S WHO, incorporating Canadian Men and Women of the Time. Of the two publications Canadian Men and Women of the Time circulated more widely. It is still to be found in all the principal public libraries of Europe, Asia and America, and in a great many private collections.

Proposal to publish a companion
volume containing portraits

Dr. Morgan put many years of concentrated labour, erudition and research into the preparation of his two volumes of contemporary biography. He had intended to publish a companion volume to Canadian Men and Women of the Time containing the portraits of the subjects represented in his book. This intention, frustrated by Morgan's death, has been adopted by the present publishers for realization in the near future. Already a few thousand photographs have been gathered with that purpose in view, together with the secondary object of enabling newspapers and journals of the world to procure the likeness of any outstanding Canadian from a central source.

The principle upon which the work is based

Like the first volume of THE CANADIAN WHO'S WHO and the editions of Canadian Men and Women of the Time, this book is founded on the conviction that a Who's Who fails to justify its existence as a useful tool for the newspaperman, the librarian, the historian, the student and the nation, if its editorial freedom is limited by any consideration whatsoever. A great deal of time and money has been spent in the work of research and classification to enable the editors to bring out a work reflecting these principles, and in which the biographies of few Canadians of high prominence, either at home or abroad, would be found missing.

A distinctive feature of the sketches

This book will be recognized as a counterpart of certain well-known foreign publications. To save unnecessary searching one feature has been introduced which, as far as we know, is unique to THE CANADIAN WHO'S WHO. The chief active occupation of the subject has been set in capital letters.

The reception accorded invitation circulars

Gratifying responses have generally followed the editors' invitation circulars, together with many letters of commendation, encouragement, and approval. But not every person approached for data has been sympathetic. Some persons manifestly did not read the descriptive circular and as a result confused the work with another using an almost identical title.

Many biographies are followed by contemporary citations

The volume now submitted contains approximately six thousand five hundred sketches. We believe them to be accurate biographies embracing the chief features of each career. In addition, following many there are quotations from publications and contemporaries, appraising the character or achievement of the subject. These have been painstakingly gathered from a number of authorities and follow the precedent established by Canadian Men and Women of the Time.

The effort to include Canadians outside Canada

Special effort has been made to locate and send invitations to many persons who were born in Canada but live abroad. Some of these have, at one time or another, foregone their Canadian citizenship but retain ties of interest and affection in the homeland. A distinguished organist-conductor who has not lived in Canada for some years expresses the idea in the remark: "I am delighted to know that I am not entirely forgotten in 'my own, my native land'. No recognition, however generous, can take the place of that of one's own mother country". Sketches also appear of other persons who, in one way or another, are of significance to Canada and Canadians.

Authenticity
of data

The data are autobiographical. In a few cases where the information was gathered by the editorial staff from the public press and private sources, it was submitted for correction, and has, for the most part, been revised or approved. As to names that are missing, we submit that, after the greatest persistence, some whom we solicited have remained silent, and with the staff and time at our disposal we could go to no further expense to procure the facts.

Eligibility and arbitrary lists

The problem of reaching a decision regarding eligibility to THE CANADIAN WHO'S WHO has been discussed by the editors with many competent authorities. An arbitrary class includes all members of the Dominion Parliament, members of the Dominion and Provincial Cabinets, judges of the Supreme Court of Canada and of the Supreme, Appeal, and Superior Courts of the Provinces, Dominion department heads, all Canadian ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary, all ambassadors and ministers accredited to this country, heads of our universities and colleges, bishops and chief ecclesiastics of the religious denominations in Canada and authors and artists whose works are well-known.

General eligibility and the view of the librarian and newspaperman

Otherwise we have endeavoured to satisfy the reasonable expectation of all the various groups throughout the country by including names that would help to give the book the widest usefulness. We have taken into account the views of the newspaperman and the librarian. Both acknowledge that it is usually an easy matter to acquire biographical information about the few people of the very highest distinction, but frequently a difficult matter in regard to others. Names of leaders in commerce and industry do not preponderate but are numerous for the reason that they are most comprehensible to the mass of people in a country so dependent as ours upon the ability and integrity of its economic directors.

Geographical and occupational indices and special lists

For the convenience of those who may desire to make statistical analyses of the contents of this book, a combined geographical and occupational index is printed. Here also are various useful lists setting out the administrative boards and officers of important Dominion societies, institutions, universities and schools, the members of the King's Privy Council in Canada, the Dominion and Provincial cabinets, the Senate, the House of Commons and the Canadian members of the Imperial Privy Council.

It has been compiled with care and
without bias

We submit this volume hopefully to the public. There is at least one Canadian work with which THE CANADIAN WHO'S WHO may be compared. To all criticism, one way or the other, it can only be pleaded that the work has been scrupulously done; that the most careful judgment has been exercised; and that no name has been purposely included or excluded for any other reason than to make the book as complete and useful as possible.

Acknowledgments

The editors wish to acknowledge gratefully the assistance given by librarians, newspapermen and archivists throughout Canada, and particularly the liberal access to the files of the Toronto Star afforded through the courtesy of their able librarian, Rev. Adam F. Barr. Special thanks are due to the earnest and laborious efforts put forth by Mr. John Newbold and Miss M. Joan Montgomery who, as members of our editorial staff, vitally assisted in bringing this compilation to a successful end.

None of the sketches are paid
for

The editors will welcome the suggestions of names or of any improvements for future editions.

No one has paid or can pay for inclusion in THE CANADIAN WHO'S WHO.

FOREWORD

In the preparation of the first edition of The Canadian Who's Who, the desire has been to make it thoroughly representative of the leading men and women of Canada, whether resident in their own land or abroad. If, perchance, the biography of some prominent Canadian has been omitted, the error must not, in all cases, be ascribed to the editor, inasmuch as some gentlemen, to whom circulars were sent, failed to answer them, and consequently their biographies could not be included.

Thanks are due to Capt. Chambers, editor of the Canadian Parliamentary Guide; Dr. Doughty, Dominion Archivist; Dr. Benjamin Sulte, Dr. Wilfred Campbell, and other gentlemen for valuable data furnished.

Suggestions for future issues, corrections of errors, etc., will be gratefully appreciated by

THE EDITOR.

TO CANADIAN MEN AND WOMEN OF THE TIME, 1912

THE first edition of "Canadian Men and Women of the Time" appeared in 1898. It comprised a volume of 1,118 pages, royal octavo, and included, approximately, 2,891 sketches of living characters. Of these over 900, or almost 33 per cent, have since died.

The volume met with a warm reception and was more than ordinarily successful. Its circulation was large, and extended to the remotest corners of the world. It was and is to be found in all the principal public libraries of Europe, Asia and America, as well as in a great many private collections. It was largely used by the newspaper press, mostly, however, without acknowledgment, a species of plagiarism into which a portion of the Fourth Estate seems to have fallen, in the present day, without any apparent sense of shame.

Various works, modelled upon the same lines as the present one, have since been started in Canada, but none of them have answered the public expectation—hence a demand has arisen for a second edition of "Canadian Men and Women of the Time," to meet which the present volume has been prepared. Like its predecessor, the Editor trusts that it may be found accurate, trustworthy, and up-to-date. It is certainly as complete, as regards the number of characters represented, as well as the facts and information touching them, as circumstances have permitted. If any name of importance has been omitted, the fault, upon examination, will be found not to rest with the Editor, but with someone more directly concerned.

The volume now submitted will be found to contain a greater number of names than the previous one, some 7,900 sketches being included within its folds. Of these some have died while the book was being published, but any such occurrences, with other unforeseen changes, will be found to be duly recorded in their proper place.

A second volume, embracing portraits of the persons represented herein, will appear just as soon as all the portraits have been collected for the purpose.

The Editor has been indebted to many persons for various courtesies and other assistance received during the preparation of the book. A list of these ladies and gentlemen is subjoined, and to one and all he tenders his hearty thanks. His acknowledgments are especially due to his younger son, Mr. Hamilton Richards Morgan, who, throughout, has been of material assistance in revising the proof sheets and otherwise rendering important service.

The full list of those to whom we have been indebted is as follows, the names being given in alphabetical order:

Fred Abraham, Montreal; Dr. Silas Alward, K.C.; Lt.-Col. J. R. Armstrong, St. John, N.B.; Major-General the Rt. Hon. Lord Aylmer, Queen's Bay, B.C.; Prof. Alfred Baker, M.A., Toronto; the late Mlle. "Dr. Morgan is more than a mere delver. He is a rare historical scholar and a master of literary expression."—Saturday Night.

"I have had occasion to consult your work hundreds of times, and if there is a man in Canada towards whom I feel a pressing sense of gratitude, you are he."—Prof. Keys.

"A man of industry and skill, who has placed the hundreds of thousands of Canadians on this side of the boundary line, as well as all searchers for information as to the careers of eminent Canadians, under an immense weight of obligation."—Self Culture.

"More frequently quoted or utilized by the Canadian press than any other work."—E. R. Parkhurst.

"No other man living could have so well prepared such a volume as the author, who has long enjoyed pre-eminence as an authority on Canadian affairs."—Colonies and India.

"If Dr. Morgan had never discharged any other service for his fellow-countrymen than the preparation of this great work of biography, he would have been entitled to no slight share of their gratitude."—Toronto Globe.

"Dr. Morgan is our Vapereau and our Sidney Lee. His 'Men and Women of the Time' is a work of remarkable labor, erudition and research. It is a joy to read his pages, so free from the slightest prejudice, showing in every line an openness of mind, a sincerity and an elevation of view which put fanaticism to shame."—La Presse.

"A serviceable book of reference both in England and Canada. The author, Dr. H. J. Morgan, has long been known as an experienced and capable chronicler of lives and events, and probably no man in the Dominion has done more than he has in the departments of biography and bibliography. His 'Celebrated Canadians' appeared more than a quarter of a century ago."—Literature (London).

"We all think it is high time that some substantial acknowledgment were made to Dr. Morgan for the eminent services he is rendering to the Dominion."—Col. S. B. Steele, C.B., (Winnipeg).

"A veteran writer whose pen has for more than half a century maintained the perpetuation and strengthening of Imperial ties as the only loyal, wise and sane course for all concerned."—Dr. John Reade (Montreal).

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: SIR CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS, M.A., LL.D., F.R.S.C.

A STANDARD DICTIONARY OF NATIONAL BIOGRAPHY

The first volume of the series, published in 1934 contained more than four hundred biographies of those who died in the period, 1875-1933. Volume II will be published early in 1937, continuing to deal with the same time cycle. Subsequent volumes are to follow until the work is completed, so that there will be available a comprehensive biography of Canadians and those significant to Canada, whose achievements deserve rescue from oblivion. Biographies of persons who died since 1875 are being written first to enable the editors to avail themselves, while it is still possible to do so, of contemporary memoirs relating chiefly to those subjects born in the thirties to the sixties of the last century. A primary list of names for inclusion has been widely publicized, and its amplification has proceeded on the basis of sound authority. For each Worthy the editor has had to choose a competent biographer. These contributor-writers number about one hundred. The selection of names which follows illustrates both their eminence and their versatility:

"Gena Branscombe has developed an immense following, both as composer and for her interesting and well-trained women's chorus known as the Branscombe Choral."—N.Y. Journal.

"'Pilgrims of Destiny' is unique in that it is in all likelihood the only instance of a work in American musical literature in which a purely American dramatic theme has been chosen by a native composer, who has written the libretto as well as the music. This Miss Branscombe has done and done with distinction."—Musical Am.

"Gena Branscombe's continuous rise from good to better, in her chosen profession, and the simple, unaffected way in which she has received one success after another, are a matter of great pride to her fellow-Canadians and especially to those who hail from her own county and from her native town."—"Bride Broder" M. and E.

"One of Canada's leading bankers and industrialists."—Fin. Times.

"Was one of the first Canadian industrialists to take shareholders into his confidence, to keep them informed on the progress of the company and not only state what the company was doing at the moment but what it proposed doing. . . . Thousands of shareholders who would be either scared away by mention of the word economics, or who would not have the time to ponder over essays, are receiving practical lessons, if you will, from a man who not only makes a close study of world economic conditions but is, by nature of his position, in the very thick of it."—T. Star Weekly.

"He should be welcomed to the ranks of those comparatively few business leaders who have not only the ability to think clearly but to speak convincingly, as well, on the larger issues which affect the interests of their shareholders and of the great mass of Canadians."—Vancouver Fin. News.

"It is gratifying to read the views (on the matter of unfair competition and questionable business practices) of one occupying the prominence that Mr. Carlisle does in the industrial world, and his views will certainly not only be widely discussed but earn the approval of fair-minded employers, as well as the leaders and spokesmen for the organized workers."—Le Samedi.

"Has the reputation of having an unerring a sense of direction through the thickets of the business world."—Fin. Post.
